MARY JEMISON

The white girl who became an Indian,—
What sadder history could be?
Torn from her home and brought, at tender age,
To wilds beside the Genesee!

What hardships, scenes of torture wrought the change,
Mid dusky children of the night—
We only know she lived an Indian
But the soul of her was white!

Her voice was ever raised to right the wrong
Whatever she could to lessen woe;
Linked to a savage and with savage sons,
Yet mercy sought for friend or foe.

I can but think what Nature held for her,
Had she been spared this cruel wrong,—
A maiden fair with lovers of her kind,
And joys that to the young belong.

In after years when she was free to go
Unto her own—yet hers no more—
Like prisoners long in the darkened cell,
She could not pass the open door.

The years of bondage had done well their work
—What tragedy so sad as this—
The cruel process that compels a soul
Its higher destiny to miss!

While others praise her courage and her worth,
A pity deep calls out to me
For this white maiden forced to savage life,
In forests by the Genesee!

Brave Mary Jemison whose every tie
Was loosed and lost that fatal night,
All through the years you lived, an Indian,
But the soul of you was white!

—ALMA PENDEXTER HAYDEN.

Author's Note: The page of history has been turned back in Western New York the past few weeks, as many scenes have been enacted, relating to the "White Woman of the Genesee" and Sullivan's Raid, which subdued the six nations and made New York State a safer place for the Colonists. The enclosed poem came out in the Democrat & Chronicle, of Rochester.

Spoils of a Fishing Party of Four

Lake Yields 26 Fish

The above picture shows a recent catch of trout taken from a pond near Moxie Lake It included 26 trout, two of which weighed 3 1-2 pounds and the others ranged between 1 and 3 pounds. This represents a two days catch. The fishing party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. R. B Walker of Oxford, who stopped at Moxie Falls Inn, of which Sam Allen is the proprietor.

Mr. Allen insisted that there were trout in the lake where the above were taken and he said that Eliot A. Fuller of this town "poohed" at the idea, while his wife was induced to try it out, but could not persuade Eliot to.

Jim Walker says that Sam Allen is a native down easter and an excellent man to be the proprietor of a sporting camp. He takes all kinds of pains to assist his guests to make a good catch and enjoy their outing.

Elected Lieutenant Governor

B. G. McIntire of Norway Becomes Head of Maine Kiwanis Club

Hon. Bertrand G. McIntire of Norway was unanimously elected Lieutenant Governor of the seventh district in Maine, at the Kiwanis convention held at Poland Springs this week. Mr. McIntire will be at the head of fourteen Kiwanis Clubs.

He is a well known Kiwanian, having been District Trustee of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club since its organizatian, and recognized as one of the most prominent workers in New England.

This action was taken at the business meeting during the eleventh annual convention of New England Kiwanians in session since Sunday.

A varied program was given during four days, which included addresses, discussions, golf, horseshoe pitching and other interesting events. Numerous side trips were arranged for out of state delegates, one of great interest was a visit to Mellie Dunham's farm in Norway.

MELLIE DUNHAM ENTERTAINS KIWANIANS

One hundred and more Kiwanians and their friends attending the convention at Poland Springs called on Mellie and "Gram" Dunham on Crockett Ridge, Tuesday afternoon.

As usual Mellie and his partner received the guests with open arms and conducted them through the rooms where souvenirs and relics abound. Of course the fiddle was brought out for old fashioned tunes that many heard during the Dunham's theatrical engagement.

The visitors called at Eugene French's McIntosh farm, where trees are loaded with red apples and made short stops in Norway village. Several automobiles were provided by the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club that conducted the tour.

Proposed Golf Course

Norway In Need of a Golf Course to Further Its Summer Business

It is possible to secure the property opposite and adjacent to the Lakeside Inn, Crockett Ridge, Norway, Me., for the purpose of building a nine hole golf course.

The owners of this land will deed same for a golf course, giving lease for 99 years. The golf club shall pay taxes on the property, but no rental.

A contract estimate has been made by professional course builders. The contract calls for nine holes standard size greens, same quality of grass as used in state's best courses, complete water system, piping to all the greens and specifications that guarantee a strictly first class course in all respects and details.

It is proposed to erect a small inexpensive, but suitable club house to be built near site of Lakeside's present spring house.

Without question all real estate holdings will be greatly enhanced in value by the construction of a golf course, and the vacations of the summer people will be more pleasurably spent.

To finance the building of this course it will require a stock issue of $20,000.00; stock to be $50.00 par value, and to be sold at $50.00 per share.

HOMECOMING AT THE CENTER

Plans have been completed for the 3rd annual Homecoming at Norway Center. At the 10:30 service the "old-timers' choir" will furnish the music and there will be a duet by Rubira and Bernice Sharon. The last rehearsal of the degree team is called for Sunday at 4 p. m., in Pythian Hall.

RATTLERS THUMP BRIDGTON 14-2

The Rattlers played their last game at Bridgton, Saturday. Many of our players had succumbed to the enticing fall sport of duck shooting, but we made up nine men, after a struggle. Once there, they quickly warmed up and went to work on Bridgton, and what they didn't do to those boys wasn't worth doing. Don Wing went into the box for the Norway boys and made the local lads do everything but turn handsprings. Holden took the only ball hit to the outfield and Martin and Everett made sensational hits. After the fray was over, the Rattlers found themselves the possessors of 14 runs while Bridgton could only scare up 2. So, with happy hearts, the Rattlers closed the season.

We are sorry to disappoint the fans who wish to see us play the "Cubs," but perhaps there are not as many of these as the "Cubs" choose to believe, since the last encounter. As to their protest concerning Millett, his name entered the club months ago and he is as duly an accredited member as Paul Nevers, Rex Martin, or Skinny Bickford are of the "Cubs." We made no protest of these men and do not feel that any good sports would protest our men, especially as our only pitcher could not very well pitch the double header by which we accommodated Ward Eight. But, of course, every Club must have a specialty. Ours is baseball. The Cubs' seems to be "hot air."

Double Shower

Miss Frank and Miss Libby Taken by Surprise

A delightful affair of the week in Norway was a dinner and surprise shower given to the Misses Velma Franke and Ruth Libby in honor of their approaching marriages, Miss Franke to Gardner Goddard of Bethel, and Miss Libby to Irving Joslin of Norway. Mrs. Irene Luck and Mrs. Ada Billings were the hostesses and the dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Billings, after the last trick at the telephone exchange at nine o'clock and all the operators were the guests. Several guessing stunts provided amusing entertainment, and Mrs. Celia Tanguay won the first favor and Mrs. Pansie Paragard the consolation.

It was suggested by some of the party that they visit Mrs. Luck's new home, which they had not seen and on arriving there they found the living room attractively decorated with crepe paper and hearts, suggestive of a heart affair, and such it proved to be. On the center-table was a huge package gaily decorated and labelled for Miss Libby, and nearby was a beautiful floor lamp for Miss Franke. Both were taken completely by surprise. After this part of the program, the dining room was opened, and the center table was decorated for the occasion, with a miniature bride for the centerpiece. Covers were laid for fifteen, with dainty favors and place cards for each. At either end was a bride cake, and on each was a tiny bride and groom, and the parson. These were cut by the brides-to-be, and there was much amusement in finding the various emblems. An hour of sociability and good humor followed.

In the gathering were Chief Operator, Mrs. Grace Millett, Mrs. Alice Hammond, Miss Louise Thomas, Mrs. Pansie Paragard, Mrs. Caroline Descoteau, Mrs. Iva Rowell, Miss Fannie Swett, Mrs. Celia Tanguay, Mrs. Annie Prince, the honor guests, Miss Franke and Miss Libby, the hostesses, Mrs. Billings and Mrs. Luck, and Howard Palmer and Clarence Dyer.

Obituary

Wilfred E. Kneeland

The death of Wilfred E. Kneeland of Newburyport, Mass., occurred in a Boston Hospital, Thursday afternoon after a short, critical illness. He had not been feeling well during the summer, but kept about his work in a boys' camp, but was forced to submit to hospital treatment about a week before his death. His age was 26 years.

Mr. Kneeland was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kneeland of Newburyport, Mass., a graduate of Brown University and the past summer received the degree of A. M. from the University of Pennsylvania. He was dean of Chesnut Hill Academy, Chesnut Hill, Pa., and director of Penn Camp on Lake Champlain. The young man was well known in athletics during his college courses and was catcher two years for the Twin Town Club, a semi-professional ball team. During his engagement with the team he won many friends in Norway and vicinity and returned every year for his vacation.

On August 31 he married Miss Marita Nevers Cushman of Norway and they had returned from the wedding trip when his condition became serious.

The funeral was held Saturday at Newburyport.

Besides his wife he leaves his parents and one brother, C. Russell Kneeland of Newburyport.

Norway people who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Cushman, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Blanche Smith, Miss June Smith and Howard Maxim.

Mrs. Nellie L. Welch

Mrs. Nellie L. Welch passed away Friday night, Sept. 20, at the home of her son on the Crockett Ridge road. Death followed a paralytic shock.

She was the widow of George Welch, late of Lewiston and came to Norway about six years ago. The deceased was born in Lewiston Jan. 12, 1861, the daughter of James and Nellie Garcelon.

She leaves two sons, Arthur Welch of Norway and Leander Welch of Lewiston, also one grandson and a brother.

TRAVELING ALONE TO KANSAS

George S. Seavey, aged 85, started for Oberland, Kan., Monday night in a pullman on the Canadian National Railway. He is traveling alone to the home of his son, Ed. Seavey, who resides on a large ranch there and drawing good money from acres.

Mr. Seavey is making his ninth transcontinental trip and is familiar with the ropes. The first journey was a strenuous affair before the Civil War, when he drove a mule team over the prairies for the government. After his military service during the war he took up land in Iowa and resided in Glenwood for thirty-six years.

During the past eighteen years he has made frequent trips to Maine and about seven years ago Mr. Seavey returned to Norway intending to make a permanent home. He built a small house on Elm Street, which was sold and a year ago he bought and improved some property in Oxford Park, South Paris.

A yearning for the plains with the wheat fields and ranch life was irresistable. He settled his affairs here and started on the long journey. A stop over will be made at Glenwood, Iowa, for a visit with old time friends and a look at the old home.

In about two years, should his health permit, he plans to return to Norway and visit with a large circle of friends and relatives.

Mr. Seavey has been identified with the Grand Army and with the Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans. Being a native of Waterford, he leaves many friends there who join the Norway folks in wishing him a safe and pleasant journey.

Mrs. Hiram Wiles has been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Lowe in Bethel and relatives in Gorham, N. H.

Mrs. Eleanora Keene, who has been the guest of her niece, Miss Charlotte Lovejoy for a week, returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Thayer, Bristol, N. H., Sunday. Miss Lovejoy and her father, Fred A. Lovejoy, Mrs. Georgia Swain and Mrs. Harriot Porter accompanied Mrs. Keene, making the trip in Miss Lovejoy's car.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER AND CEREMONY

Miss Martha E. Barrows of South Paris and Rupert R. Tracy of Norway were taken in hand by their friends, Saturday afternoon and evening and showered in honor of their approaching wedding.

Miss Madelyn Hayden set the stage for the bride-elect's shower in the Hayden camp on the shore of Lake Pennesseewassee, where a jolly party gathered late in the afternoon. A dainty supper was served and bridge was enjoyed. In the miscellaneous shower many useful and pretty gifts were presented.

In the party besides the guest of honor were Miss Madelyn Hayden, Mrs. Agnes McCready, Lucy Cobb, Rosie Merrill, Thelma Tracy, Mrs. Evelyn Haskell and Ruth Tracy, all of Norway. Louise Silver, Mrs. Dot Saleeby and Angie Caswell of South Paris.

Late that night Rupert Tracy was theoretically kicked out of the mythical Bachelors' Club during a stag party in the Tracy camp in Greenwood. As a number of guests attended the Knights of Pythias gathering in Hanover, athletic activities in camp were postponed until near the witching hour of midnight. The ceremony of disbaring the member was carried out in full form and some harrowing experiences are reported, both inside the camp and out.

After a few "cat naps" breakfast was prepared by Cook Paul Nevers, after which the groom-to-be was presented a beautiful photograph of Lake Pennesseewassee.

Members of the party were Rupert Tracy, Paul Nevers, Lester Richardson, Carl Ahonen, Robert Brown, Clarence Dyer and James Smith.

MISS JANET PEARSON

"All summer long," states Miss Janet Pearson, R. 2, Bangor, Me., "I had much discomfort due to severe pains from gas, which would always form after every meal. I finally lost my appetite and had no desire for food. Often this gas would seem to gather about my heart and shut off my breath and I would experience a choking sensation. Frequently this would awaken me at night and break up my rest. I tried many different medicines but couldn't seem to get anything but temporary relief. Reading and hearing so much about this Bon-Tone, I decided to try it, too, and with only half a bottle I could see an improvement but I kept on and now I feel ever so much better and have made up my mind to take several more bottles of this medicine so as to eliminate all my stomach troubles permanently. Bon-Tone certainly has lots of merit and it is a pleasure to recommend a preparation that shows such good results."

Bon-Tone is for sale at L. V. Ashton's, Norway, Me. Come in for free, interesting booklet, "The Road to Success."

NATURE

God gave us eyes that we might see
The beauties of the land and sea,
The lifting night; the coming dawn,
The rosy tints that herald morn,
The sky so blue, with clouds above,
The great Outdoors for us to love.
The singing birds; the calling crow;
The damage that the wind does blow,
The sinking of the golden sun,
The evening beauties; day is done.
The rising moon behind the tree;
The birds' good-night for you and me,
These beauties He sends from above
For us to see; for us to love.

Solitude in the Crowd

Little do men perceive what solitude is, and how far it extendeth. For a crowd is not company and faces are but a gallery of pictures and talk but a tinkling of cymbals, where there is no love. The Latin adage meeteth with it a little: A great town is a great solitude.—Bacon.

REALM OF HONESTY

By W. H. Lord

You carry your cross as a burdened load,
You stumble and fall by the side of the road.
You pause not, you watch not, you fret, nor care.
But keep bearing your burden humbly there.
You see no sign in your pathway to trace,
Nor have you the look of another man's face,
But faithful, honest, stout-hearted you go,
To pull and baffle the weeds in your row.
You look to the East, you look to the West,
And search, search forever, the way to do best;
Yet in seeking and searching the world wide
You find at your home, life's problem well tried.
For great knowledge of prospect and wonder
Could not in vain effort be shook asunder;
But the realm of honesty, despite fate,
Gains footholds by inches, and not rotate.

MAINE IN WINTER

There is an impression abroad in the land that after the summer months are gone Maine becomes so cold that it is an uncomfortable state in which to live and after winter descends it becomes truly like the Arctic regions.

The average city dweller pictures the Maine winter as a land of snow and ice, where the mercury seldom rises above zero and where people in the country districts are snowed in for days and weeks at a time. There are thousands of people who admire Maine during the summer months who actually believe that the climate is too cold for a year round place of residence.

Now what are the facts about our Maine climate? Why has this impression of our Maine winters gone abroad? It is because Maine people have been doing a lot of wrong advertising. We have advertised our blizzards, our low temperatures, in fact everything that is disagreeable about our winters we have told the world about. We have not told the world abou the many beautiful days we have in Maine during the winter. Blue skies and snows of a sparkling whiteness, clear pure air with a tang that adds zest to living. Maine is a land of beauty in winter as it is in summer. Its winters are no more severe than the many prosperous states in the same latitude. In fact there is nothing wrong with winter in Maine and its a splendid state in which to live, not only for July and August, but the whole year round. —Ralph M. Bacon.

Fall is not the best time to sell baby carriages, but an intelligence ad run two weeks brought a customer. A sale was made, leaving everybody happy. Try the column, it brings results.

Mayflower buds appeared in the office this week. Fred Lovejoy found them in Mason where a whole bed seemed to be responding to the gentle September weather.

Jim Stone of Harrison was in, Monday getting out advertising matter for his auction on Tuesday, October 8. This will be an all day sale at his home when a large stock of household and farming tools go under the hammer. Jim will officiate as auctioneer. His ad appears in this paper.

Joseph H. Porter, 20 Arborough, Road, Roslindale, Mass., was a caller, Saturday, and left the price of a yearly subscription. He had been a week with his brother, John Porter of South Paris and had his grip packed for a return home on Sunday.

Ed. Hobbs dropped in Saturday afternoon for a chat on hard times and the high cost of tobacco. He is used up with heart trouble and must let many things slide about the farm which ought to be done before snow time. Ed. has a hunch that the romantic climate in Florida would fit his case, but without a fat wallet, the journey will be taken with some travelogue.

M. W. Sampson became alarmed regarding the hunting of partridge and woodcock and declared he did not know under the present laws when the open season was. His inquiry from the department of Inland Fisheries and Game says: "The State provides for an open season on both partridge and woodcock during the month of October, only, with a bag limit of four partridges and four woodcock a day.

C. T. Shortridge of South Paris was here Wednesday, while on his way to Fryeburg. He moved to South Paris from Fryeburg during the war, but retained his interest in the Fryeburg Fair and is the superintendent of the midway. He brought us one of the premium books. The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., of New York, has sent out the following to Bureaus and Chambers of Commerce regarding J. F. Castor, Brooklyn, N. Y. (last known address):

Business houses in Portland, Maine, have waited over a year for a return on money paid to J. F. Castor of 1407 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., for advertising space on envelope folders.

In the early summer of 1928 Castor contracted with a Portland bank to deliver 5,000 envelope folders to be distributed to depositors. The bank was to receive free advertising space on the folders. Under this arrangement Castor sold space to a number of local concerns.

About the middle of July, 1928, 1,000 of the folders were delivered to the bank, but no more have been forthcoming. Inquiry reveals that a firm in Norway, Maine, printed 1,000 envelope folders, for which Castor furnished the stock.

In an effort to adjust the matter, a letter was directed to Castor at the Brooklyn address. This communication has been returned by the Post Office stamped "Moved—no address".

Castor is described as being approximately 30 years of age, medium weight, of dark complexion, smooth-shaven and rather good looking. He is said to be of gentlemanly appearance, a good talker and to have a pleasing appearance.

Mr. Castor spent a portion of the summer of 1928 in Norway at Fred S. Brown's cottage at the lake. It was at this time the above was done. We printed the folders as requested and he settled the bill. Later on it was found there was something crooked about the transaction in regard to the Portland end.

"Buy or Borrow a Copy"—but for your neighbor's sake, buy it.

Kilbreth's Kalomy Klub orchestra of South Paris played for a dance in Legion Hall, Wednesday evening.

The track at the fair grounds is being covered with straw for a protection against frost.

Merl Davis has been away from his job at the Mason Manufacturing Co. a few days while a cut on his hand is healing.

George H. Bennett, aged 75, walked to Noble's Corner and return, Wednesday afternoon, distance of 12 miles. He called on folks who were his neighbors 30 years ago, when his wood working and painting establishment was located there.

Miss Elizabeth Hall went to Newburyport, Mass., Saturday, with Llewellyn H. Cushman and Howard S. Maxim to attend the funeral of Wilfred E. Kneeland, Saturday afternoon.

Fay Blake, a guide at Ed. Coburn's camps at Middle Dam, was in town, Saturday. He returned to Middle Dam for a stay until the first of October, then comes back to his home in Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Laferriere of Berlin, N. H., were guests early this week of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Sanborn, at their home in Lansdale, Pa. Both Mr. Laferriere and Mr. Sanborn were brought up in Norway and were roommates during their four years at Bowdoin, where they graduated in 1901. Walker Buildings Burned—Meeting of Ladies' Aid—Concert by Orphanage Band—James S. Bartlett Dead.

The farm buildings of Allen Walker at Swan's Corner burned to the ground about 1 o'clock the afternoon of Sept. 19. The fire is thought to have started round the stove or chimney as Mrs. Walker had just made a fire and gone out to a near by neighbors. Help was summoned but a strong wind was blowing and the buildings could not be saved. Near by buildings were in great danger and but for the wind blowing in an opposite direction would have burned.

The buildings are estimated to have been worth about $3,000, partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Walker was not at home at the time of the fire, a near-by neighbor, John Spinney, went to Newry Corner after him and when returning was going at so high a rate of speed he was unable to make the turn near Mayor Hastings and the occupants of the car were thrown to the ground. Mr. Spinney and Miss Nowlin were badly cut requiring the services of a physician and Mr. Walker received an injury to his arm. The car was completely wrecked.

As Roy Moore was returning from the fire he discovered smoke coming from his car, upon investigation, he found it to be on fire. The entire top of his new Ford car was completely burned before the fire was put out. Cars driven by Hazen Sweeney and John Carter collided but no one was injured or serious damage done to the cars.

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Patterson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leach of Portland, Sunday.

There was a meeting of the Ladies' Aid at the church, Thursday afternoon, followed by a covered dish supper for the members and their families.

Tamarack Talk

Bret Harte

One would not exect the interpreter of the Pacific slope in American Literature to have been an Easterner, but Bret Harte was born in Albany in 1839, the son of a professor of languages. At the age of fifteen he reluctantly moved to California with his widowed mother. It was from his wanderings and observations among the mines that he gained material for stories and poems. Bret Harte has been known as the faint echo of Mark Twain, a satellite of lesser importance, and though he is important in the evolution of the short story Bret Harte lacks the wholesome vigor and true independent spirit of the West that was innate with Mark Twain.

The characters of Harte are less real than those of Clemens; he took rather the bizzare and unusual, than the ordinary, common type of the West. When Bret Harte went among the Westerners they did not feel that he was one of them; they did not like him; they hated him. In the East he was acclaimed; he became popular at once with "The Luck of Roaring Camp" and when the demand came from the East to return, he who had tried to assimilate the West responded with haste, anxious to get back to the Atlantic coast. But he had left the scenes from which he built "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" and "Dickens in Camp" and the old creative power became dormant.

That Bret Harte grew up with Dickens and Irving as his greatest favorites may account for the lack of purely original feeling and expression like that of Mark Twain. He did not experience enough of the hardihood of the West from early boyhood to have the intensity of emotion or sentiment necessary to fill his work with that essence which would carry both the East and the West. However, his writings and his influence in the East helped to bring closer harmony with the West. The interest and sympathy that Harte seemed to show for his characters made the people realize that "out West" men were human beings also, and this tended to break down the barrier between East and West.

Bret Harte opened the way for the literature that was to come from the country as a whole. He is an important step from the romanticism of Irving and Hawthorne to the realism of O. Henry and the modern Short Story. —Tam.

GIVING A BRIEF OUTLINE OF THE INDUS ATTRACTIONS OF THE TOWNS IN

Written by Miss Nora P. McAllister of

Oxford County extends about one hundred miles in length upon the western boundary of the state and was originally the northern part of York and Cumberland. Great Ossipee river has made its southern limit and Canada its northern, and New Hampshire its western. It has now thirty-four towns and eighteen plantations and parts of plantations, covering an area of about seventeen hundred square miles, the northern portion is mostly unsettled. The county is well watered by the Androscoggin, Saco and their tributaries, and in the northern part are the large lakes, Umbagog and Moosehemeguntic.

It is traversed by the Grand Trunk Railway. Paris has always been the shire town. From this town, four of Maine's governors were chosen, Hamlin, Lincoln, Perham and Parris.

Oxford county is usually the leading sweet-corn area of the state and takes first rank also in apples, with 365,000 bearing trees. Beautiful lakes and mountain resorts along its western border, which touches the foothills of the White Mountains, and in these surroundings many boys' and girls' camps are located Considerable lumbering is done also peacanning in the vicinity of Fryeburg.

The activities of practically all of the thirty-four towns center about taking the raw materials from the great forests and turning them out in high grades of paper, paper bags, postal cards, etc., and numerous products that are made from wood.

Rumford is one of the greatest sources of power in New England. Here the waters of the Androscoggin fall one hundred eighty feet within about a mile. About 30,000 horse power is available. About 13,100 horse-power is easily developed by the Rumford Falls Light and Power Company. Rumford has the largest population of all the towns in Oxford County.

Norway and Paris occupy another fertile section of Oxford County. Paris Manufacturing Company is located in South Paris, whose products are to be found in nearly every home in this part of the country.

Paris is divided into four picturesque villages. Leading industries and products in Paris are: Spool stock, wood novelties, sleds, step ladders, childrens' toys, apples, canning, feldspar mining, clothes pins, pole hole wedges, marbles and granite, snowshoes and ski manufacturing and mining for semi-precious gems. Its population is about 2,650.

Norway was first settled in 1786, an attractive village in Oxford County. Norway has a fertile soil and is watered by the great Pennesseewassee Lake, which furnishes good water power for the mills. The leading industries are practically the same as Paris. Shoes, apple barrels, cider barrels, canning, dowels and wood novelties, lumber, snowshoes and ski manufacturing. Snowshoes used by Peary in his discovery of the North Pole were manufactured here in Norway. Summer hotels also serve for an important industry.

Albany was once called Plantation of Oxford. It was settled about 1800. The leasing industries are lumber, shingles, spool stock. It has a population of 500.

Andover was settled by Merrill in 1788. The first mills were erected in 1791. It was incorporated under the name of East Andover in 1804. The leading industries are lumber and spools.

Byron is situated in the northern part of Oxford County on Swift river. The surface of Byron is very hilly and uneven. There are two mountains known as "Turk" and "Broad." Swift river runs through the entire length, and there is also a pond called Garland Pond. This place is well watered and had three of four mills. The principal occupation is agriculture. Wheat and corn are grown to a large extent. Lumbering serves for occupation in winter.

The northerly portion of the town of Grafton is timbered with pine and spruce, while the southerly portion is very mountainous. The soil is very fertile. The streams are Cambridge which flows into Umbagog Lake and Bear River flowing south to the Androscoggin. Lumbering and farming serve as occupations for the inhabitants. Roxbury is practically the same as Byron.

Mexico is located twenty-five miles north of Paris. It is well watered by two tributaries of the Androscoggin River, and had a good, rich soil, and supplies the large amount of water power. It has different mills.

Dixfield is situated on the north side of the Androscoggin River, opposite the town of Peru. The surface is broken. The principal elevations are Large and Small Sugar Loaf and Aunt Hepsey's mountains. It is drained by the Androscoggin, and contains no ponds or lakes.

Agriculture is carried on extensively, and woolen goods are manufactured.

The surface of the outskirts of Canton is uneven, while the center is smooth and level. At Canton Point, called by the Indians, Rockomecca Point is a large, beautiful lake and intervale, which was in Indian times planted with corn, Whitney Pond is located in the southern part of the town. This town has several machine shops, for the manufacture of agricultural implements, a tinware factory, and an iron foundry.

Peru is bounded on the north by the Androscoggin River and is twenty-eight miles from Augusta. The surface is uneven and broken. On the Androscoggin, there is a narrow intervale, very smooth and fertile. Wheat and other grains were formerly the productions but lately corn, oats, hay and grass have been added.

The only mountains of mention are Black Mountain and Tumble Down Dick. There are several small ponds, some of which are Cranberry Pond, Worthy Pond and Twenty Mile Pond, and Spear's Stream. There are several mills on Spear's Stream.

Hartford is in the eastern part of Oxford County. It was settled soon after the Revolutionary War. It is watered by numerous ponds and small streams, and has good farming lands.

The surface of Hebron is hilly. In the northern part is Streaked Mountain. It is a large smooth elevation, rising to the height of about sixteen-hundred feet above the field below. Hebron is well watered by ponds and small streams. The principal ones are Big Brook, Middle Branch, and Matthew's Pond. In Hebron is the Hebron Academy, a school for boys. Here also is one of the largest Sanatoriums for tuberculosis in the United States.

Buckfield is situated in the eastern part of Oxford County. There are several rich beds of magnetic iron ore here, from which the very best wrought iron and steel can be made; lime stone is also found, which yields lime nearly equal to that of the Rockland quarries. A bed of yellow ochre has also been opened. The town is watered by Twenty Mile River. This river is made useful by sufficient water power for several mills and machinery.

Oxford is in the southern part of Oxford County, near Hebron. The surface is somewhat hilly. Water is supplied by the Androscoggin and the outlet of Thompson's Pond. There are several large mills in Oxford.

In the western part of Oxford County is Sweden, forty-five miles from Portland. The soil is good for farming purposes, especially for the growth of grains.

GIVING A BRIEF OUTLINE OF THE INDUSTRIES AND NATURAL ATTRACTIONS OF THE TOWNS IN THE COUNTY

Written by Miss Nora P. McAllister of North Lovell

Oxford County extends about one hundred miles in length upon the western boundary of the state and was originally the northern part of York and Cumberland. Great Ossipee river has made its southern limit and Canada its northern, and New Hampshire its western. It has now eighty-four towns and eighteen plantations and parts of plantations, covering an area of about seventeen hundred square miles, the northern portion is mostly unsettled. The county is well watered by the Androscoggin, Saco and their tributaries, and in the northern part are the large lakes, Umbagog and Moosehegantic.

It is traversed by the Grand Trunk Railway. Paris has always been the shire town. From this town, four of Maine's governors were chosen, Hamlin, Lincoln, Dingley and Parris.

Oxford county is usually the leading sweet-corn area of the state and takes first rank also in apples, with 305,000 bearing trees. Beautiful lakes and mountain resorts along its western border, which touches the foothills of the White Mountains, and in these surroundings many boys' and girls' camps are located. Considerable lumbering is done also peddling in the vicinity of Fryeburg.

The activities of practically all of the fifty-four towns center about taking their raw materials from the great forests and converting them out in high grades of paper, paper bags, postal cards, etc., and numerous products that are made from wood.

Rumford is one of the greatest sources of power in New England. Here the waters of the Androscoggin fall one hundred eighty feet within about a mile. About 50,000 horse power is available. Hebron was settled by Merrill in 1789. Saw mills were erected in 1791. It was incorporated under the name of East Bridgton in 1804. The leading industries are shoe and spools.

Byron is situated in the northern part of Oxford County on Swift river. The town of Byron is very hilly and uneven. There are two mountains known as "Blue" and "Broad." Swift river runs through the entire length, and there is a pond called Garland Pond: This pond is well watered and had three of these mills. The principal occupation is farming. Wheat and corn are grown to some extent. Lumbering serves for occupation in winter.

The northerly portion of the town of Greenwood is timbered with pine and spruce, while the southerly portion is very mountainous. The soil is very fertile. The streams are Cambridge which flows into Cambridge Lake and Bear River flowing south to the Androscoggin. Lumbering and farming serve as occupations for the inhabitants. Oxford is in the southern part of Oxford County, near Hebron. The surface is somewhat hilly. Water is supplied by the Androscoggin and the outlet of Thompson's Pond. There are several large mills in Oxford.

In the western part of Oxford County is Sweden, forty-five miles from Portland. The soil is good for farming purposes, especially for the growth of grains. Kezar River crosses the west part and there are also two ponds by which the town is drained.

Hiram is in the extreme southern part of Oxford County. It lies on both sides of the Saco River, and it is rather uneven at the center but on the Saco and Ossipee are some tracts of pitch-pine plains. The most noted mountains are called Bill Morrill and Mount Misery. Saco River runs through a part of the town. Ten Mile Brook, Clemon's, Spectacle, Image, Hancock and Bryant's Ponds, furnish water power for mills and other machinery.

The great Ossipee River separates Porter from Parsonsfield. It is six miles in length and contains about twenty-three square miles. The surface is generally uneven, having many hills of considerable height. A large number of cattle are raised for market. The soil is good for raising Indian corn, potatoes, wheat, rye and oats. There are many good orchards of natural and grafted fruit.

Mine Mountain, though not very large is celebrated on account of the mining operated there by William Towle in 1802. Small portions of iron, lead and silver have been found there, also on Rattlesnake Mountain.

There are also a number of ponds. The two largest are Concord and Bickford The former covers one hundred and fifty acres and the latter about one hundred. There are several small mills on these ponds.

Denmark is situated in the southern part of Oxford County, and joins Fryeburg in the southeast. Its surface is very hilly and very stony. The principal mountain is known by the name of Pleasant mountain, which is 2,000 feet above sea level. The Saco River bounds Denmark partly on the west. There are several small mills and they have enough water power to furnish these.

The lumber business was formerly the chief industry, but now agriculture, fruit raising and stock raising are more important.

Greenwood is situated nearly in the center of Oxford County. The surface is very broken. It is watered by nine ponds, three which empty into the Great Androscoggin at Bethel, and other six into the Little Androscoggin. Agriculture is the leading industry, many apples are raised and shipped each year.

The surface of Gilead is very mountainous and a considerable portion is covered with forests.

Gilead is drained by the Androscoggin River, which runs through its entire length. Wild River falls into the Androscoggin. The Grand Trunk Railway passes through this town into New Hampshire.

Stoneham is well watered and is a rather small town in Oxford County, between Lovell and Albany. It manufactures lumber, boards, shingles, shook and hoops. Many of our minerals are found here.

The surface of Sumner is somewhat broken and uneven. A portion of Black Mountain, noted for its large growth of blueberries is located in Sumner. There are three ponds known as Pleasant, Labrador, and North Ponds. Twenty-Mile River runs through Sumner. Agriculture is the cheif industry.

There are several beautiful ponds in Woodstock which form mill-streams and empty into the Androscoggin. There are several mills where wooden articles are manufactured.

Bethel is situated on both sides of the Androscoggin and contains an area of 25,000 acres. There are several good farms along the river as the surface is very fertile. The Grand Trunk Railway passes through the town, making transportation of products available. The academy known as Gould's Academy is located here and ranks high as an institution of learning.

Newry, which is located in the western part of Oxford County, is a wild and mountainous country. Bear and Sunday rivers flow through nearly parallel in a southerly direction, falling into the Androscoggin.

Hanover, in the western part of Oxford County, lying north of the beautiful Androscoggin River. It has some of the finest intervale farms in the county. The surface is broken and uneven and is well watered by Howard's Pond lying about a mile from the Androscoggin River. This pond is noted for its abundance of speckled trout. Agriculture is the cheif occupation of the people here.

Milton is watered by several little ponds and by the Pushaw River, a tributary of the Penobscot. The soil is very rich and fertile. It has several good mills.

Waterford is an attractive resort in the hills of Oxford County, it is the birthplace and burial place of Artemus Ward. At Waterford there is splendid bass fishing in Lake Keoka.

Brownfield is an old town and one of the most picturesque in its section. Each year brings more and more people, vacationists and motor parties to see the beautiful spots. These hills are virtually the foothills and outposts of the White Mountains and some of the views are as extensive as can be found higher up in the range.

Not far away, on the border of Maine and New Hampshire is beautiful, historic, Fryeburg, you can see from this town the White Mountain range and many others. In the background is that queer ledge formation "Jockey Cap." In this town is the Fryeburg Academy, where students from many different states have received and are receiving their education.

Ten miles from Fryeburg, through pine woods, along the ridges that overlook beautiful lakes and peaks of the White Mountains is the quiet country village of Lovell. Lake Kezar, which Lovell borders is over nine miles long, and in some places a mile wide, well stocked with salmon, small mouthed bass, pickerel and many other kinds of fish, and furnishes safe bathing and boating. The scenery in Lovell is beautiful; there is none better any place in Maine. Mount Washington, Kearsage, and a dozen other peaks of greater or less degree are in full view and the long range of foothills make the village among the finest in this region. Within the limits of Mount Washington are: Mount Reho, McDaniel's Hill, Christian Hill, and Mount Sebatos. Mt. Sebatos is nine hundred feet high and with its tremendous cliff is one of the great sights in this section. Lovell is rapidly becoming one of the great inland summer resorts.

There are one hundred forty seven varieties of minerals in Maine, eighty-seven of which are in Oxford county, forty seven of those that are used for gems. The tourmaline and topaz are found on Harnden Hill. The best tourmaline is found on Mount Mica in Paris. The red and green are unequalled elsewhere. Practically the entire supply of the rare metal, calcium, was taken from a lipidolite mica deposit in Oxford county.

The best amethyst comes from Denmark. Beryl from Stoneham, specimens are found in every noted museum in the world. In Paris there are also feldspar mines, lipidolite from which lithium element is produced and used for medicine. Localities for pearls are in Stneham, Otisfield, Waterford and Byron.

Among the noted men from Oxford County are Dana from Fryeburg, Ex. Governor Long, Buckfield, Artemus Ward, a writer from Waterford, Hannibal Hamlin, who was vice-president, was born at Paris. Prof. Chapman of Bethel, who has done a great deal for Gould's Academy and for the music students in and around Bethel. Hannibal Hamlin, who was vice-president of Roberts College in Constantinople for several years was from Paris. Albert J. Stearns, born in Lovell is now a lawyer in Norway. Marcellus Ward Stearns, a native of Lovell, served as governor of Florida for many years. Arthur Bartlett is a reporter for the Portland Press Herald. Daniel Webster, from Salisbury, N. H., was one of the first teachers in Fryeburg Academy, and was a great statesman. Warren Durgin, one of Abraham Lincoln's bearers, who has lived in Oxford County practically all his life, died recently. Miss Anna Barrows, who has done a great deal for Fryeburg and its famous Academy is a lecturer in a teachers' college at Columbia University. Edith A. Sawyer is also a native of Fryeburg, she too, has done a great deal for the academy. Mrs. Lydia Lord Shedd has lived in Oxford County many, many years and has written many beautiful poems, one of which is named "That's Where Maine Comes In."

That's Where Maine Comes In

Far to the east where the winds blow keenest,
Here is where the grass grows greenest;
Our beautiful land with its rock-bound coast,
Guarded by islands, a sentinel host,
That's where Maine comes in.

Far to the east where the north winds roar,
And the surf resounds on her rocky shores,
Where the tall cliffs rise in majesty,
Keeping watch o'er the looming sea,
That's where Maine comes in.

Far to the east where the pine grows strongest,
Where the reign of winter is sometimes longest,
Where men are noble and strong and true,
Where women are brave and loving, too,
That's where Maine comes in.

Where the handclasp is a little warmer,
Where the heart beats are a little stronger,
Where heaven seems a little nearer,
And God's promise shineth clearer,
That's where Maine comes in.

Where the wild bird's wing is fleetest,
Where the robin's song is sweetest,
Where lakes and rivers are pure and clear,
And nature sings to the listening ear,
That's where Maine comes in.

Though far through the world our feet go roaming,
Our hearts will turn homeward when comes the gloaming,
And we'll long to rest where the pines are sighing,
Under the star-lit heavens lying,
In life, in death, our hearts within,
That's where Maine comes in.

Town Character—Who Is It?

A good neighbor lives on the plain,
He is neither purse proud, or vain.
His gold dollars jingle,
Because he is single.
And his pigs they never eat grain.
They are not too fat, or a shark,
He feeds them on hemlock bark.
And his road to prosperity is plain.
If there is anything hard to be done.
He seems to be always the one
To do it, and never complain.
His creed it is easy to tell,
"Anything worth doing, is worth doing well."

Man So Nervous Feels His Stomach Jump

"I got so nervous my stomach felt like it was jumping. Vinol entirely relieved the trouble. I feel better than in years."—J. C. Duke.

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. L. V. Ashton, Druggist.

Why wait another year to own an Eight...?

You'll be out of date within a year without an EIGHT!

It's evident on every hand—America wants to stay in high gear!

The public knows that extra gear shifting and other engineering devices applied to a six-cylinder motor will not give the smoothness and flexibility of an eight.

The fine cars started it. Today every fine American motor car is an Eight. Now we find the same sweeping trend among cars of more moderate cost. In eight key states for the first six months of 1929, new car registrations above $1000 showed a 90 per cent increase in Eights while sixes above $1000 showed a decrease of 16 per cent.

Spurred on by an Eight-minded public, Studebaker set out two years ago to build a high-quality Eight that could be sold at moderate six-cylinder cost.

Studebaker today leads the world in the manufacture of Eights—Eights that are champions—holders of 11 world records for speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other makes combined—Eights which are remarkably economical—smooth, flexible, brilliant.

Before investing in your new car, drive a smart new Studebaker Eight—President, Commander or Dictator. Measure it point for point and feature for feature against the best six that you know. Then remember—your new car will be worth more a year from now—if it's an Eight!—for Eights will then be at a premium in a used car market glutted with sixes.

Consistency

True grief cannot be measured in terms of material things. To those who have lost a loved one, it may seem that nothing is adequate to express their sense of bereavement. Yet even in such matters as these, cost must be a consideration.

Families calling upon us for service have the satisfaction of knowing that, no matter how simple the appointments or how modest the cost, every funeral that we conduct receives the same careful and reverent attention.

We offer merchandise in a wide range of prices, and the cost of the funeral depends upon the price of the merchandise and the amount of service required. But the quality of service, measured in terms of reverence and reliability never varies.

You get more for your dollar in
America's finest medium-priced automobile

Today's Oakland All-American Six stands out unmistakably as America's finest medium-priced automobile. Its value supremacy has been established by facts revealed in comparison of the All-American Six with twenty other medium-priced automobiles. Let us go over all the results of this comparison with you. When you have seen how on every basis of comparison the All-American Six towers above its field—you will agree with us that you get more for your dollar in America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Proof of Oakland Value Superiority

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these, Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland.

WHEELBASE
Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

BRAKES
Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brakes which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

FISHER BODY
Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

PISTON DISPLACEMENT
Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are much higher priced than Oakland.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Spring covers, Lovejoy Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

$1145 AND UP

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Killed in Plane Crash

Ridlonville Youth and Pilot Killed

Henry Richards of Ridlonville, 20-year-old paper mill employe, was instantly killed about mid-afternoon when the Waco biplane in which he was a passenger took a nose dive of 300 feet into a gully half a mile from the Rumford landing field, and Roger Swan, 26, of Milton, Mass., pilot of the machine, received multiple injuries from which he died within five minutes after being taken from the wreckage.

Richards, apparently thrown from his seat as the plane struck the ground, was found a few feet away.

The machine, a new one which had been in use about 50 days, was the property of the Maine Air Transport Corporation.

According to Mr. Wisham of Portland, who was at the landing field at the time of the accident and hurried in a taxicab to the spot where the plane fell, the plunge was due primarily to striking a downward current of air.

After ascending from the field, the machine circled around for a few minutes and then started back, coming in toward the field from the north. It was half a mile away and about 1,000 feet up when it hit the down current, and turned over on its side to the right.

The pilot was seen to right it again and after going for a short distance, it suddenly lost altitude for about 400 feet. Then, within an estimate distance of 300 feet from the earth its nose dipped and down it crashed, smashing on land owned by Mrs. Lena Blanchard on the outskirts of the village and about 500 feet from the main highway.

Richards was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richards of Ridlonville. The funeral services for him were held Tuesday.

A lecture on Christian Science will be given Saturday evening, Sept. 28, at 7 o'clock, Standard Time, at the Calvary Methodist Church, Hammond St., Lewiston. The speaker will be Miss Margaret Murney Glenn, C. S. B. The lecture is free. See ad in this issue.

MRS. SCHENK'S LETTER TO THE ADVERTISER

Mrs. Carl A. Schenk of Norway writes the office that she is gaining after being laid up a number of weeks with a stiff back; she was in bed much of the time. At present she gets about with the help of a cane.

During her illness a daughter, Mrs. Annie Wiles, and a neighbor, Mrs. Ralph Bonney, did the housework and cared for the patient. Sunday, Sept. 22, Mrs. Schenk passed the day with her daughter, Annie Wiles and family in their camp on Pike's Hill and enjoyed again getting out in the sunshine.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Schenk visited her son in Lewiston and accompanied by her grandson, Norman Reed and family of Reading, Mass., who were in Norway on a vacation. While in the city Mrs. Schenk attended the meeting of the Maine Three Quarter Century Club on the state fair grounds, declaring it to have been a great day, and the best time for a long while. It was soon after this trip that Mrs. Schenk had her sick spell.
